Shoes For Crews® and OS1st® Partner to Deliver All-in-One Comfort System for Workers

2025-08-29

The new partnership unites industry-leading footwear with purpose-built socks to create a comprehensive comfort solution for the workforce.

Shoes For Crews®, the global leader in slip-resistant footwear since 1984, announced a new partnership with OS1st®, a leader in performance sock and compression technology, to introduce a complete comfort system for workers. Launching in time for Labor Day, the collaboration delivers a knee-to-toe solution designed to enhance shoe fit, reduce foot fatigue, and support hardworking professionals from the ground up.

Labor Day is about celebrating the contributions of hardworking people, and there's no better time to introduce a partnership that's entirely focused on supporting them. By combining our slip-resistant footwear with OS1st's performance sock technology, we're raising the standard for comfort and safety in the workplace."

Aaron Taylor, SVP of Brand Strategy at Shoes For Crews

Both companies were founded with a shared purpose: to support workers with high-performance products that deliver real benefits both on and off the clock.

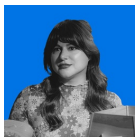

At OS1st, our mission has always been to engineer products that make a difference in people's daily lives. Partnering with Shoes For Crews allows us to bring our purpose-built socks to the workers who need them most—those on their feet all day—so they can perform at their best and return home more comfortable."

Josh Higgins, President of OS1st

This partnership marks the first time workers can find both Shoes For Crews' footwear and OS1st's sock solutions in one place, simplifying access to a full comfort system designed for real-life performance.
